

DEPARTMENT OF PSYCHOLOGY

Programme Specific Outcomes of BA Psychology

After completing the programme, a Psychology graduate will be able to:

PSO 1: Analyze major concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, research methods and historical trends in social, child, organizational behaviour, psychological testing, criminal and abnormal psychology.

PSO 2: Conduct basic experiments and apply psychological principles to different areas of life with the changing trends in psychology and understand the difference between the role of a psychologist and psychiatrist.

PSO 3: Use effective ways of communication in organizations, create awareness and understand the nature of effective leadership styles.

PSO 4: Test various concepts in the laboratory setup, gain practical knowledge of test administration, scoring and interpretation of results.